

ABUNDANT CAFE

Gratitude and consistency

in every cup!

Seventh Tradition

Every group ought to be fully self-supporting, declining outside contributions.

Create a Budget

Incorporate Tradition Seven and Warranty One when discussing finances.

Inspire abundant thinking within all service levels when creating a budget.

Consider including public outreach and a prudent reserve when developing budgets for groups and/or Districts.

Provide regular and transparent financial reports.

Support Literature Distribution Centers (LDCs)

Reach out through AFG Connects to establish an LDC in your Area.

Encourage groups to purchase a variety of literature from their local LDC. See catalogue S-15 and order form S-16.

Explain the importance of purchasing literature through local LDCs or AFG, Inc.; emphasize the need to be self-supporting and sustainable for the future.

Create a more consistent, uniform, and professional presence for the delivery of online literature services.

Use the entire Conference Approved Literature (CAL) library in meetings, workshops, and personal recovery.

Share all formats of CAL with newcomers.

Strategies for a Sustainable Future...

Encourage Contributions

Consider accepting electronic contributions.

Encourage the links of service to contribute electronically.

Encourage members to set up sustaining contributions.

Use Tradition Seven in financial discussions.

Discuss the benefits we have received from being part of a worldwide fellowship.

Consider ways in which our personal recovery is enhanced when we make direct contributions to the WSO and service arms including the Area, Districts, and the local AIS/LDCs.

Consider Spiritual Principles

Discuss the spiritual principles that enhance abundant thinking with regard to financial matters.

Have spiritually-based conversations when talking about finances with our families, groups, District and Area.

Study the Al-Anon Legacies which guide us in addressing our fears of financial insecurity and assure us we will always have enough.

Apply the spiritual principles found in our Legacies to make financial challenges manageable.

Take regular inventories at all service levels to inspire abundant thinking.
